

HELD FOR MURDER OF MILLIONAIRE IN FORTUNE PLOT

W. A. Dorr Locked Up in California Charged With Slaying Aged George Marsh.

STOCKTON, Cal., April 18.—William A. Dorr, suspected of the murder of George Marsh, the millionaire of Lynn, Mass., was arrested here at 8:45 o'clock last night and now is locked up and under examination by the police.

He was trapped through the aid of a telephone operator when he attempted to telephone to his aunt, Mrs. Orpha Marsh, niece of the murdered man. This woman is Dorr's aunt, and her will, together with a deed in escrow made by the man murdered in Lynn, placed James Marsh's estate of $100,000 within the reach of Dorr.

The telephone operator saw a man walk into his office, look at a picture of Dorr printed in a Stockton newspaper, together with the facts that a war was out for the arrest of the Stockton bicycle dealer, charging him with the murder of George E. Marsh. This man bolted from the office in great agitation and the telephone operator at once gave the police the "tip."

They followed the suspect to a restaurant, where they found Dorr wearing spectacles and the clothes of a workman. When Chief Briceno and Policeman Gaylor came upon him he was attempting to get a telephone connection with Miss Orpha Marsh.

Shortly after his arrival he telephoned to his aunt, Orpha Marsh, begging to talk with her, but a young lady companion answered that she was ill in bed, could not come to the phone and that Dorr would have to come to the house to see her. This he said he could not do, as the police were on the lookout for him.

LETTER MIGHT HAVE SAVED G. E. MARSH.

LYNN, Mass., April 18.—A letter mailed to George E. Marsh in California by a relative on Sunday night, April 7, contained a warning which undoubtedly would have saved his life if it had been received before his alleged meeting with William A. Dorr on Thursday, April 11, in the opinion of the police here.

This letter contained a clipping from a Stockton newspaper, saying that Dorr had mysteriously disappeared from the California city and was in the New England States, and also a statement that he had left Stockton under a cloud. The funeral of the murdered man will be held from his home this afternoon. James Marsh, the son, arrived from California last night.

Arthur Marsh, nephew of the victim, said today: "It was only natural for Dorr to return to Stockton, where he probably intended to attempt to prove an alibi if suspicion was directed his way. I doubt if Dorr saw the newspaper reports accusing him of the crime."

DIG BATTLESHIPS IN YARD.

The battleship North Dakota, the last of the five big war vessels to be repaired at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, arrived yesterday and work will be immediately begun. The four others are the Utah, Florida, Delaware and the Michigan. They are the five biggest war ships ever at the Navy Yard at one time, and owing to the inadequate facilities it would be impossible to get another similar vessel into the yard at this time.

The battleship Alabama, which has been undergoing repairs at the yard for two years, was formally turned over to the Navy Department yesterday.
